

Northern Lehigh Arts Center at White Christmas Chalet

We are proud to announce the opening of the Northern Lehigh Arts Center at White Christmas Chalet located on the grounds of White Christmas Tree Farm in Slatington.

Before teaching strings in a public school setting, Jacqueline Bucks, artistic director of the Northern Lehigh Arts Center, taught at Community Music School in Allentown. She loved her experience there and hoped one day to have her own school of the performing and visual arts. After purchasing White Christmas Tree Farm three years ago, she and her husband decided to make the dream a reality.

The Northern Lehigh Arts Center is currently offering classes in music, dance and theater, preschool through adult. Also offered is private instruction in strings (both traditional and Suzuki methods), brass, voice and guitar and old-time banjo.

The current curriculum also includes “Little People’s Creative Workshop” (Preschool) and Young Actor’s Workshop (ages 6-12). Both of these classes are taught by Liz Chickey, Director of Dance and Theater, and have been nominated for the Children’s Television Workshop’s Sunny Days Award for outstanding work with young people in the Arts.

Future offerings will include private instruction in woodwinds, percussion and piano, performing ensembles and a visual arts program.

A day camp is now also in the planning stages for the summer of 2008 to include music, theater and dance.

You are welcome to register now for the Spring semester which will begin in January 2008.
